DISTRICT RECOVERING FROM RECENT STORM

Rivermen Predict Ice Thaw on the Potomac Within Few Days—Sail
Navigation to Open Soon.

Moderate temperatures, with no important changes in the next thirty-six hours, are indicated for the entire eastern half of the United States, according to the forecast issued today by the weather bureau.

Washington and the District of Columbia, with immediately adjacent territories, will have cloudy weather, with light variable winds and no great changes in temperature for at least twenty-four hours, according to the same forecast.

The blizzard which wrought such havoc over the entire eastern part of the United States Sunday night and Monday has blown itself out, and the terrible storm is now somewhere off the Labrador coast. No succeeding storm is indicated on the weather map as prepared this morning.

The recovery of the District from the storm of Sunday and Monday is fast approaching completion. Regular train schedules are established again. Trains to and from New York over the Pennsylvania railroad are running with regularity and practically on time. The Baltimore and Ohio trains, which suffered most, are running fairly well, with the conditions on the line steadily improving. Trains from the south are in good shape, and those from the north are averaging about forty minutes late.

Wire Service Resumed.
Telegraph and telephone lines are fast being repaired, and uninterrupted transmission of messages may be looked for from now on.

There has been no material change in ice conditions on the river in the vicinity of this city in the past twenty-four hours, but the rivermen look for the beginning of the thaw within the next few days. Continued northwest winds have kept the ice packed about the canal plant wharf and along the southern and eastern banks of the river so that navigation today between this city and Glymont was as difficult as it has been at any time since the freeze.

The ice gorged about the forks of the Washington and Georgetown canals, reports say, is packed one cake upon another almost to the bottom of the river. Capt. James Lawley, master of the District tug Firebrand, which has been doing duty as an icebreaker, is stated, while the tug was endeavoring to free the steamer Northumberland from the ice at the forks, ran an eighteen-foot oar down through the ice and could feel it packed as far as the oar could reach.

Ice is reported to extend to Cobb point, about eight miles down the river, since Sunday night, having in the form of Liverpool point to Cobb point.

Little New Ice Making.
A shift of wind will cause the ice to scatter and thin out and will allow the steamers to go through it with more ease. It is thought that much of the ice that was piled on the canal bank by the northwest gale is grounded sufficiently far to remain there unless an abnormally high tide comes and floats it off. Last night and this morning the water in the river was four feet or more below the usual low water level for the season, and models of the ice in the docks were on the bottom all day.

As soon as the wind changes the water will return quickly to its normal level. Old rivermen state that it has been about twenty years since the water in the river was as high as it was Monday and yesterday. While the temperature last night was about the freezing point, comparatively little new ice was made, but the ice already in the river was hardened and frozen together. Rivermen say the season is now so far advanced that the coming winter will open the river to navigation even to sailing craft can be looked for within the next week or two, and that it is a rare occurrence that much ice can be found in the river after the middle of March, though there have been years when this has occurred.

Moderate Temperatures Northwest.
Moderate temperatures are now general over the entire country, and the weather is unseasonably warm in the northwest.

The distribution of atmospheric pressure is very irregular, depressions being centered over the Canadian maritime provinces, the middle gulf states and the west coast provinces of Canada, while areas of high pressure cover the Pacific states and the middle Mississippi valley. This pressure distribution has resulted in light snows in the region of the great lakes, northern New England, Illinois, Indiana and Missouri, and rains in the west gulf states and on the north Pacific coast.

The indications are that the weather will be unsettled, with rains within the next thirty-six hours in the east gulf states, Florida, Tennessee and Kentucky, and local snows in the region of the great lakes, with some cloudiness tonight and Thursday.

Associate Judge for Hawaii Named.

Red Cross Committee on First Aid.
To assist in its work of extending first aid, a subcommittee on ruins of the national first-aid committee of the American Red Cross has been appointed by Maj. Charles Patterson, chairman of the national committee, as follows: Director Joseph A. Holmes, bureau of mines; John Mitchell and S. W. Eccles, New York; Dr. M. Shields, field representative of the Red Cross; John Hayes Hammond, Washington; and Prof. H. H. Stark, University of Illinois.

Monument to House Maine Relics.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 4.—An agreement was reached by the city of Pittsburgh and Allegheny county yesterday by which each is to appropriate $2,000 to be added to a popular fund for the erection of a monument to house the relics from the battleship Maine, presented to Pittsburgh by the government. The building will be erected on the north side, old Allegheny city, where Lieut. Jenkins, who was killed when the Maine was blown up, was born.

Tuberculosis Increases in France.
PARIS, March 4.—Tuberculosis has doubled in France since 1887, according to figures supplied to the Temps by Henri Schmitt, a republican radical deputy, one of the leading temperance leaders in France. Infantile mortality in Normandy, according to Schmidt's statistics, where women drink excessively, is just double what it is in the temperate department of the Gers. Infantile mortality is at its highest in those districts where absinthe drinking is prevalent.

NEW YORK RECOVERING FROM STORM'S EFFECTS

Fair Weather and Thousands of Snow Shovelers Bringing Normal Conditions.

NEW YORK, March 4.—Fair weather and thousands of snow shovelers combined today to bring about almost normal conditions of transportation and wire communication between New York and the rest of the country.

Railroads whose telegraphic service was stopped reported that all wires were being restored rapidly and regular trains were being resumed. Practically all of the lost trains on the Jersey Central, the Pennsylvania and New York Central lines had been found early today.

In New Jersey, where the force of Saturday and Sunday's storm did the most damage, large forces of linemen began gathering up the tangled telegraph and telephone wires, more than 80 miles of which were still down, together with 1,000 poles.

Milk Trains Running.
Milk trains, which bring in the larger part of the milk consumed in the greater city, began running on slightly delayed schedules, and perishable freight long delayed in drifts is being rushed to markets here. It was believed that deliveries today would cause a tumble in the price of eggs, which the storm caused to soar to 50 cents a dozen yesterday.

Shipping is still hampered by an almost solid mass of ice in the harbor, and arriving transatlantic and coastwise steamers are reaching their piers with difficulty. The snow continued to melt today, making easier the task of clearing the streets, many of which in residential sections have been practically blocked since February 12. The street cleaning department hoped to repeat yesterday's performance, when 121,286 cubic yards of snow were removed. A total of 20,000 men and 2,071 trucks were employed in the work. The city's snow-removal bill this winter will aggregate about $2,500,000.

SPLAIN IS INDUCTED INTO MARSHAL'S OFFICE

Oath Is Administered by Chief Justice Clabaugh This Morning.

Although there was no President of the United States to be inducted into office today, the city was not to be deprived of an inaugural ceremony on the traditional March 4.

In the presence of Chief Justice Clabaugh and the five associate justices of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, enrolled in flowing silk gowns, Maurice Spaulin took the oath of office as United States marshal for the District of Columbia this morning. Chief Justice Clabaugh administered the oath and at its conclusion congratulated the new appointee and wished him a successful administration. In turn the other justices extended their felicitations to Mr. Spaulin.

The new marshal was accompanied to the general term consultation room, where the ceremony took place, by his close friend and associate for many years, Otto Praeger, recently appointed master of the District of Columbia. Maurice Spaulin took the oath of office as United States marshal for the District of Columbia this morning. Chief Justice Clabaugh administered the oath and at its conclusion congratulated the new appointee and wished him a successful administration. In turn the other justices extended their felicitations to Mr. Spaulin.

Congratulations Extended.
Among the first to greet and congratulate the new marshal after he had taken charge of his office was Maj. Richard Sylvester, chief of police. Dan Curry of the District insurance department sent his congratulations in the form of a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

As the official life of all the deputy marshals ended with the change in the office's head, Spaulin's first official act was to respond to a telegram from the entire force so that no temporary misapprehension in the service of papers or the performance of duty might be caused by the change. The new marshal was not prepared to announce any policy today or to say what changes would be made in the personnel of his assistants.

ROME, March 4.—William Marconi delivered a lecture last night in the ancient circus of Augustus before King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena and all the notabilities in Rome. Mr. Marconi's lecture was the progress of radiography. He predicted the early success of radiotelephony, declaring that the human voice could be projected across the ocean by this method more quickly than a message could be sent by cable.

SOMERFIELD D. HALL CIRCUIT COURT CLERK

Qualifies at Upper Marlboro and Enters Upon His New Duties.

UPPER MARLBORO, March 4, 1914. Somerfield D. Hall of Beltsville qualified here today as clerk of the circuit court of Prince Georges county and immediately entered upon his duties. He fills out the unexpired term of Richard N. Ryan, republican, who died at his home at Cottage City Saturday evening.

The appointment of Mr. Hall followed a conference last night between Judges John P. Briscoe and Ellmore Hall of the seventh judicial circuit, the naming of the clerk being left to Judge Bell as judge of the Prince Georges county court.

There were at least eight applicants for the place, and considerable time was consumed in listening to the claims of the various aspirants.

Mr. Hall is a democrat and a native of Prince Georges county. He is about forty-five years old and unmarried. One time he was transfer clerk and auditor of the county and until today was employed as bookkeeper in the Citizens National Bank of Laurel.

The appointment of Mr. Hall places every branch of the government of Prince Georges county, with one exception—one member of the board of county commissioners, John M. Bowie—in the hands of the democrats.

INQUIRY INTO THE CAUSE OF COLLISION ON RIVER

Inspectors Taking Testimony Relating to Run-In of Two Steamers Yesterday.

Inspectors Wright and White of the United States steamboat inspection service, in charge of this district, this morning came over from Baltimore and today are conducting a preliminary inquiry into the cause of the collision yesterday off the War College in this city between the steamers Newport News and Northumberland, and upon the developments of this preliminary inquiry, which is being held in private, depends the preferring of charges against the masters or officers of the steamers and the holding of a public trial.

The inspectors were aboard the steamer Northumberland this morning examining the crew, and this afternoon they will hear the statements of the crew of the Newport News. The witnesses are testifying under oath and their testimony is being taken by a stenographer.

Course of Procedure.
Should the inspectors decide to bring charges against either master, or both, the specifications will be in writing and the accused given an opportunity to prepare a defense. This hearing will be held in this city, either at the custom house or at some place on the river; front to be selected. Capt. Wright and Capt. White will return to Baltimore this evening, and will take with them the copy made of the testimony given at the hearing today. The hearing will be carefully gone over, and it will be the end of this week or the early part of next week before it will be known if the inspectors deem it necessary to prefer charges against the officers of either of the steamers.

Condition of the Northumberland.
Workmen have since yesterday afternoon been employed in boarding up the crushed-in side of the M. D. and V. line steamer Northumberland, lying at the wharf foot of 7th street, and in order to have repairs made as quickly as possible the Northumberland will leave her this afternoon for Baltimore. She will take passengers and freight for landings on her schedule from Point, Md., and below. It has been found that the hull of the steamer was not damaged, the injuries she received being confined to her upper work.

Surveys for the insurance underwriters were about the steamer Newport News and Northumberland, estimating the amount of damage done them in the collision between the boats.

Newport News Going to Shipyard.
It is the intention of General Manager Callahan of the Norfolk and Washington line, to send the Newport News to a shipyard for repair and she will probably leave here tomorrow or Friday.

When her rudder struck the shoal and was bent at the point where it comes up behind the main deck, in order that Maurice Spaulin took the ship with it, her own power the twisted rudder post will be so adjusted to the steering gear that it can be used on the trip. At

RECOGNITION IS ACCORDED

Capt. Russell, U. S. N., Pays Official Call on Gen. Zamor at Port au Prince.

Capt. Russell, commanding the battleship South Carolina, reported to the Navy Department today that before leaving Port au Prince yesterday for Guantanamo, Cuba, he made an official call on Gen. Oreste Zamor and formally recognized him as president of Haiti. Capt. Russell was accompanied by Commander Bostwick of the gunboat Petrel, which, with the gunboat Petrel, has been ordered to the south coast of Cuba for maneuvers.

American Minister Smith and the naval officers received by President Zamor with full honors, the national anthem being played upon their arrival at the national palace as well as when they departed. The formalities were concluded with a national salute from the South Carolina, the Haitian flag flying at the masthead. This salute was returned by one of the Haitian forts.

Capt. Russell reports that practically all revolutionary activities are over with the Zamor government in full control at Port au Prince, where great satisfaction is felt over the recognition of the government by the United States.

Mr. Barchfeld Reintroduces Bill for Admissions to Hospitals.

Representative Barchfeld of Pennsylvania today reintroduced his bill which provides for voluntary admissions to the Government Hospital for the Insane. The bill would allow any one suffering from a mental disease to be given treatment at the hospital without having to go through the legal process now necessary.

In order to prevent an abuse of the institution by people who might be induced to enter the hospital without it, the bill provides that any such voluntary patient may leave the hospital at any time on three days' notice.
